Voice for Change (V4C) Programme

Introduction

The V4CP is a partnership between SNV and a consortium of civil society organisations (CSOs) aimed at enhancing the CSOs capacity to advocate for emerging issues within different thematic areas. As part of the Food and Nutrition Security (FNS) thematic area, SNV has partnered with CUTS, Society of Crop Agribusiness Advisors (SOCAA) and South Asia Co-operative Environment Programme (SACEP) to ensure compliance with food safety standards for locally consumed products and enhance consumer demand for quality food. The focus is on horticultural and dairy value chains. In its advocacy, V4CP takes an evidence-based approach focused on stakeholders’ collaboration, inclusivity, seeking solutions and building on already existing systems.

V4CP Knowledge and Learning Event

CUTS attended V4CP learning and knowledge programme in Nakuru County during September 23-27, 2019. The workshop had V4CP partners from Rwanda and Ghana. The workshop was meant to share country experience in the implementation of the V4CP. CUTS presented achievements in enhancing food safety through milk safety and more specifically the experience with MSPs in advocacy. From the workshop the FNS team learnt the essence of private sector advocacy and budget tracking from other V4CP implementing countries. Additionally, the FNS gained knowledge on the use of evidence for action.

Consumer Awareness on Food Safety

CUTS organised a consumer awareness forum in Murang’a on July 19, 2019. The objective of the forum was to spur consumers’ awareness on food safety issues, know their consumer rights and obligations in regard to access to safe food, understanding the redress mechanism and formation of a strong consumer desk/units at the county level to address food safety concerns.
EVENTS

It aimed at building robust food safety champions capable of engaging the government and private sector and receiving feedback for better representation of consumer voices and accountability by actors on issues of food safety and other consumer concerns. After the forum, a consumer desk was established to enhance consumer awareness, knowledge and understanding of food safety concerns.

Laikipia Dairy Policy Workshop

CUTS, SNV and the County Government of Laikipia and Agriculture Sector Development Support Programme (ASDSP) held a policy workshop on July 02, 2019. The objective of the policy workshop was to hand-over the Laikipia Dairy Development Policy to the county government. The policy proposes to improve the productivity of the dairy sector as well as safety in the dairy sector.

The County Executive Committee Members (CECM), Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Food Supply (MAoLF) extended her gratitude to the V4CP for helping in developing the dairy policy. The policy will be tabled to the other county executive committee members before it tabled to the county assembly for debate and approval. The CECM committed they will push the policy to the conclusion to allow the department to allocate resources for the implementation of the policy.

Consumer Organisation Roundtable Meeting

CUTS, SNV, Kenya Consumer Protection Advisory Committee (KECOPAC) and other consumer organisations held a breakfast meeting on July 25, 2019. The essence of the meeting was to discuss the state of Kenyan consumers on issues of food safety and build a strong consumer voice to demand food safety in Kenya. Presently, the demand side is the weakest link. This is attributable to the prevailing limited consumer awareness and low capacity of existing consumer organisations. Consumer organisations are working hard to protect consumer interests but are constrained by budgetary limitations. Additionally, there are few consumer organisations with limited recognition from the government and stakeholders that is necessary to enhance their work. It was agreed that there is a need to unify the consumer voice by forming a Kenya Council of Consumer Organisation.

Public Debt Symposium

A major concern around Zambia’s debt situation is that if proper debt management is lacking there is likely to be a continued rapid increase in public debt and this will have dire consequences on the economy and Zambian people. The negative implications of high debt are already being felt through high taxes and fees, tough business climate and deteriorating investments in public services intensifying economic hardships for Zambians.

Based on this, CUTS sees the need to sustain public dialogue on debt and discuss solutions to reverse the country’s debt distress. In order to integrate a regional perspective on the issue, CUTS collaborated with the African Forum on Debt and Development (AFRODAD), a pan African platform and organisation for lobbying and advocating for debt cancellation and addressing other debt related issues in Africa. The symposium brought together different stakeholders from government, think tanks, non-governmental organisations, the private sector, trade unions and the media.

Workshop on Investment Facilitation

CUTS Accra in collaboration with the World Economic Forum (WEF) and Ghana Investment Promotion Centre (GIPC) organised an investment facilitation workshop at Accra, Ghana, on September 12, 2019. Among other things, the workshop sought to bring to the fore ways to increase the quantity and quality of Foreign Direct Investment in Ghana.

Presenting the study’s findings at a validation workshop in Accra, the Lead Consultant for the study, Appiah Kusi Adomako, said setting a minimum threshold capital requirement across the board would prevent investments into sectors which do not require substantial investment. He cited, for example, that a foreign investor coming to invest in the information communication technology (ICT) sector does not need to have the same capital requirement as someone coming to invest in the real estate or mining sector.
Matthew Stephenson, Policy and Community Lead on International Trade and Investment at the World Economic Forum, recommended the establishment of investment aftercare services to help facilitate investment. He added that the GIPC Act provides a clear explanation and variation between investment promotion and investment facilitation, hence presenting Ghana with a strong legal and institutional framework for investment facilitation.

Edward Ashong-Lartey, Director of Investor Service at GIPC stated that the Centre has started with a multi-stakeholder consultation over the past few years to receive the inputs, suggestions and recommendations on what changes need to be made in modernising the GIPC Act.

Emmanuel Doni Kwame, Secretary-General of the International Chamber of Commerce, lauded the team for putting together a brilliant report. He stressed that the recommendations highlighted should be implemented to improve the investment climate.

The workshop ended with a unanimous call for targeted investment facilitation measures specific to agriculture to help increase investment flows to the sector and recommended measures, including agriculture insurance, One District, One Factory agricultural linkages, the formation of land information banks, a strong agricultural data, out-grower schemes and skills enhancements, to help overcome the challenges in the sector on government to review the existing investment Act to help boost foreign direct investments into Ghana.

The Strategic Partnership ‘Green and Inclusive Energy’

Introduction

The Strategic Partnership ‘Green and Inclusive Energy’ in Africa programme is expected to run from 2016-2020. The programme is supported by Hivos East Africa through financial resource and capacity development on Lobby and Advocacy to CSOs.

CUTS Nairobi is part of this strategic partnership working to ensure that consumers are equipped with information on RE and social accountability tools to demand for Renewable Energy (RE) while policymakers and leaders at county and national level get relevant information, knowledge, and skill set to create appropriate policies to enhance access to RE.
Development of SE4ALL Data Collection Toolkit

CUTS convened County Energy Reference Group (CRG) meetings in Homa Bay on July 23, 2019 respectively. The CRG aim of the meeting was present SE4ALL toolkit and gather inputs from the stakeholders. The toolkit seeks to:

- classify optimal level of public investment in the energy sector.

In the meetings, CUTS presented the rationale of the toolkit and the nature of data the toolkit intends to collect at the household, business level, institution and policymaker information. The toolkit whose primary aim is to establish the status of renewable energy at county and national level by mapping out renewable energy resources and their uptake and use in the target counties. The department supports the development of the policy as it provides the foundation for legislative framework and realization of the green economy in Homa-Bay. The policy was officially handed over to the county government.

The next step of the policy is presentation to the other county executive committee, after the policy document has been approved by other executive members, it will be presented as a sessional paper to the county assembly to become part of the guiding documents. If approved, the policy will be used to inform programmes that the department will implement to realise the big four agenda.

Additionally, the CRG agreed there is need to develop a strategic plan that will actualise the realisation of the policy vision and goals. The CRG members agreed to a technical workforce to draft the Homa-Bay renewable energy strategic plan 2019-2023. However, the sector faces significant challenges that constrain the effective provision of services to the growing urban spaces. Informal markets make food accessible to city residents, the majority of whom are poor. While the increase in the number of supermarkets and other retail outlets make food available, the majority of people living in Lusaka and Kitwe do not have access to these outlets.

Strengthening Voices of Women in the Informal Sector
This project will seek to contribute to this discussion by creating platforms in five different Southern African countries, namely: Zambia, Zimbabwe, Malawi, Botswana and Namibia where these issues will be discussed at the national level. These discussions will then culminate in a regional convening which will be hosted in Zambia whereby women from these countries will come together in an effort to agree on a regional position on social protection. One woman from each country will then be selected to participate at the Commission on the Status of Women as well as various other forums at national, regional and global levels to amplify their voices on this issue.

This project involves the design, preparation and execution of the animal feed value chain study, which identifies challenges towards effective competition in the animal feed value chain. This also includes an evaluation of government interventions, especially focussing on how these shape incentives for firms to compete and invest. More importantly, this value chain study will provide recommendations on the design of more effective policies that foster competition in the animal feed value chain and suggest how pro-competition policy reforms may have an impact on various economic variables in the animal feed value chain.

Savings, Jobs and Climate Resilience: The Heightened Significance of E-voucher

In the 2018-19 farming season, the electronic voucher (e-voucher) was scaled back from 100 percent rollout to 60 percent of districts. On 4 August 2019, the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Agriculture announced the government’s decision to further roll back the e-voucher to just 40 percent of districts. This was to make sure that there was enough upfront funding available to successfully deliver the e-voucher and ensure that farmers get their inputs on time.

While there is a need to ensure that the e-voucher functions effectively, the scale back of the e-voucher coverage this year will have negative consequences. The e-voucher is both a cheaper and more effective means of delivering agricultural subsidies than the alternative traditional Farmer Input Support Programme also known as Direct Input Supply. Sufficient planning is needed to ensure that the government is in a better position to scale up the e-voucher next year, starting with sufficient funds allocated to e-voucher implementation in the 2020 budget.
